INSIGNIA

TRUST. RELIABILITY. EXPERTISE.

Program and Project Management and Overall Management Consulting

Insignia provides professional program and project management consulting services designed to continuously improve business processes. We have a highly dedicated and experienced team who collaborate with our client organizations and streamline internal practices and processes for better efficiency and accuracy.

Information Technology (IT) Support Services

Information technology, integration and software development is today's number one component for business and performance success. Insignia can assist an organization's information technology needs and help identify and improve infrastructure vulnerabilities as well as implement solutions to streamline business processes.

Executive Coaching and Consulting and Organizational Development Support Services

Insignia recognizes the constant evolving landscape in today's organizations. To remain competitive and attract and retain the highest talent, we assist agencies in their strategic plans to meet demands, address new challenges and implement optimized solutions to address changing issues in the workplace and among the workforce.

Marketing and Communications Support Services

Insignia has demonstrated experience in the design and delivery of marketing and communications campaigns for federal agencies. From branding and identity tools to market segmenting and earned media campaigns, our integrated process establishes messages and calls to action that drive the organization's value proposition while capturing more customers to meet mission requirements.

Training and Curriculum Development

Education and training is critical in today's increasingly competitive environment. Insignia provides a full spectrum of professional training services to meet a client's individual training needs.

Diversity and Inclusion Support Services

Insignia has a broad range of capabilities in diversity and inclusion support services. Working with civil rights, human resources and disability service centers, we have a comprehensive understanding of critical federal policies and procedures
